

GET INVOLVED WITH THE EASO EARLY CAREER NETWORK (ECN)

The ECN is a community for students and early career professionals interested in obesity to collaborate, learn together and share experiences

Connect

To get involved, get connected! Learn about the ECN and help us learn more about you, too. Sign up and complete our Network form.

Education and Training Opportunities

EASO Winter Schools are annual residential educational courses focused on hot topics in obesity for early career researchers, scientists and health professionals.

Get Social

Share Your Experiences

Networking and sharing your research interests and clinical experiences within and across Europe and globally are key parts of being a member of the ECN.

Explore EASO Resources

The EASO website has information about key issues in obesity. Learn more about the science of obesity, research, policy and advocacy; Network members are eligible to participate in many of our events.

Awards

EASO offers an annual Best Thesis Award and provides travel grants to ECN members in conjunction with the European Congress on Obesity.

The new EASO-Novo Nordisk Foundation New Investigator Awards in Basic Science, Clinical Research, Childhood Obesity and Public Health will be announced at ECO2023. Each of these four early career Awards, which will also be available in 2024 and 2025, are accompanied by a DKK 300,000 research grant.

European Congress on Obesity

The annual European Congress on Obesity offers an excellent opportunity to connect and share experiences with your peers and with experts in your field. Learn more on the EASO website.
